Mr. Elsenheimer can respond within five days thereafter.

12:04 p.m. Mr. Elsenheimer asks about a trial setting. The Court does not have a specific time frame yet, but not this year. The Court explains that right now there is one jury courtroom that is being shared. The Court notes that with the virus, more people are testing positive, and there are cases that probably have higher priority over this one because Defendant is not in custody. The Court notes these various considerations that go into setting a trial date, and says that a spring trial may happen. Once there are rulings on the motions and we are in a position to make a plan, the Court will set a status conference to figure out dates, availability of witnesses, and things of that nature.

12:07 p.m. Recess.
